

Heart to Honduras

Striving to meet the spiritual and physical needs of the needy in Honduras and Central America.

Carlos is a member of UALC's sister church in Caliche, Honduras. He is a crucial player in the large purified water project. Carlos is very, very poor and has had a very difficult life. However, six nights a week, he makes the 30-minute walk to church. He has a ready smile for everyone and a faith that has sustained him through many life tragedies.

Carlos has taken a very active interest in bringing clean water to his village. With no transportation available for meetings in town with the government, Carlos sets out at 4:00 am walking towards the road to Santa Cruz. Four pairs of shoes later, he has never been late to one of the Heart to Honduras meetings. Carlos has dug hundreds of meters of pipeline and missed numerous days of work that he could have used to work for his personal gain.

One day, after months of work on this project, Carlos made the simple statement, "It's a shame that the water from this project won't arrive at our house." Carlos's house sits so far away from Caliche proper, and so high up, that the gravity-driven system's distribution lines will not reach his house. Every day that he has worked on this project, every blister, every bloody cut, every frustrating day and enormous rock in the ditch, every day without income, he has worked for the people of his community and its children. Carlos is a man of incredible faith, and a man that understands the heart of God.

Families enjoy a spaghetti dinner at the Caliche community outreach event.
