

Hilltop Preschool

Providing at risk three to five-year-olds with social experiences and educational tools to be successful in school and life.

Joshua entered Hilltop Preschool as a rambunctious four-year-old with significantly delayed social skills, especially problems with anger and aggression. He comes from a multi-generational home including at least two family units. His mother deals with addiction and has been incarcerated multiple times. During his recent year at Hilltop Preschool, the staff worked closely and lovingly with Joshua, providing intervention and giving him the tools to rise above his situation.

He acquired, and has retained, skills to control his behavior. Joshua's kindergarten teacher reports he's doing very well and is "one of the smart kids." He's confident and is becoming a leader. His siblings call him "The Nerd" due to his success in school and his strict insistence that they do their homework, too.

Hilltop Preschool is "Where Hope Grows."

Graduation is a proud day for students and the scores of excited families and friends who fill Hilltop Lutheran Church.
